SUMMARY OF THE MENTORING SESSIONS

Mentor: DR. RASHMI REKHA SAIKIA

Odd Semester (2021)

As a mentor, I successfully carried out my responsibility towards connecting my assigned students for their overall development. I created an atmosphere to achieve emotional stability and to promote clarity in thinking and decision making and also to take right path towards building their career. I also communicated my students both personally and over phone and discussed the various problems and issues faced by the students which may be both academic and personal. I counseled my students at regular intervals and encouraged them in their academic as well as their other fields. Attention was also laid on their class attendance and their participation in all activities of the college.

Even Semester (2022)

To take the responsibility in mentoring my assigned students, I continuously interacted them to know the problems, issues as well as advancement of learning related to their course as well as other activities. I also laid focus on how to improve the achievement of the slow learners and tried to motivate them to excel in the examination. Students' personal problems are also given importance by me and counselled them to overcome such situations. As a mentor, I tried to keep a track of the academic performance of my mentees including continuous assessment and examination and helped them through discussion about their area of difficulties. I also tried to understand their behavioural aspects of my students and to support them academically and emotionally.

SUMMARY OF THE MENTORING SESSIONS

Mentor: DR. ANJAN KONWAR

Odd semester, 2021

During this period, the first semester ones are given greater priority as they are new in the college and are unaccustomed to the environment of the life in a college. Confronted with a whole new set up they are usually found confused and tensed. Under the circumstances the new batch in the college requires greater support and guidance from all concerned particularly from the teachers. As such, we as mentors try to make them comfortable through formal /informal conversations both inside and outside the classrooms. The mentees are provided with study materials in addition to the ones they receive otherwise. On the other hand, at the beginning of the semester, the third semester and fifth semester students are given more academic activities. The results of the previous semester are analyzed and depending upon the performances the mentees are given words of advice to overcome any challenge they might come across. The slow learners are given extra classes and group discussions are also held.

Even Semester, 2022

The mentor-mentee system aims at the progress and development of the mentees. The mentees are given assignments and tutorials on a number of topics related to their syllabi and even on matters outside of it.

In order to monitor and ensure all round development of the students informal conversations are held and study materials, such as books or print outs are given as and when needed. It is observed that students in this phase are under tremendous stress from various sources and to counter it mentees are counselled by allowing them greater freedom of expression. They are advised to face situations strongly and handle them in a composed manner. Although all the mentees are given equal opportunities some fall behind the others. These slow learners are given additional classes and counseling while the advanced mentees are asked to work on complex issues.

SUMMARY OF THE MENTORING SESSIONS

Name of the Mentor: DR. JITU SAIKIA

Odd Semester (2021)

Satisfactorily discharged my responsibility as mentor to the mentees allotted to me in the meeting of the department. First of all, I created an amiable and amicable environment among the students and tried to win their confidence so that they shared everything important and necessary with me. I helped them every possible ways in their pursuit of knowledge and course curriculum. I also extended help and all round support to them to face and overcome any stress if and when there was. Emphasis was given on the newcomers and encouraged them to follow their course systematically. I took extra classes with the newcomers and helped them keep pace with the advance learners. Some extra motivation was given to the advance learners as well.

Even Semester (2022)

I wholeheartedly tried to continue and discharge my responsibility as mentor to the mentees allotted to me in the meeting of the department. My mentees already getting friendly with me, I motivated them to effectively follow their course curriculum. I strongly stood with those students who failed to give performance up to the mark in their end semester examinations and extended to them all round support to face the untoward situation and overcome the stress. I pointed out to them their possible mistakes in the examination and also gave them tips how to do well in examination. I laid strong focus on the slow learners and motivated them to keep pace with the advance learners. I also inspired the advance learners to equip themselves with more and more advance knowledge for competitive examinations.

SUMMARY OF THE MENTORING SESSIONS

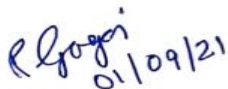

Mentor: Dr. Shyamolima Saikia

Odd Semester (2021)

During the odd semester (2021), mentorship was undertaken through a process of meetings with mentees from time to time. The students were made to open up and share their anxieties and difficulties pertaining to their course curriculum without inhibitions. On receiving their feedback, they were counseled on matters not only related to academic progress but also on personal growth. In the subsequent meetings, their progress of study was assessed and different assignments were given to the slow learners as well as the advanced learners. Most of the mentees came up with queries related to the topics discussed in the class along with issues such as what books they should follow, how to frame an answer, how to overcome communication barriers among others. The mentees of the 1st semester, being new to the subject, were explained how they should chart out a strategy of studying the major papers and given guidance on framing answers and incorporating critical assessments instead of generalizing and summarizing facts.

Even Semester (2022)

During the even semester, too, mentoring sessions were undertaken through a process of meetings with mentees from time to time. The students were made to clarify their doubts related to the course. The difficult topics were explained to the mentees. Group discussions were held for the slow and advanced learners to remove their hesitations and improve their communication skills. Assignments pertaining to the course were also allotted among the mentees. Following the submission of assignments by mentees, the same were examined and the corrections and modifications required were explained to the mentees. Special attention was given to the slow learners who had problems with reading and writing skills by giving them practice-based tasks related to those skills. Since the slow learners had the habit of not reading the texts, they were allotted different chapters from dramas and novels to read, comprehend and make notes and explain the same during the mentoring sessions.
