Department of Assamese

Significance of the Day:

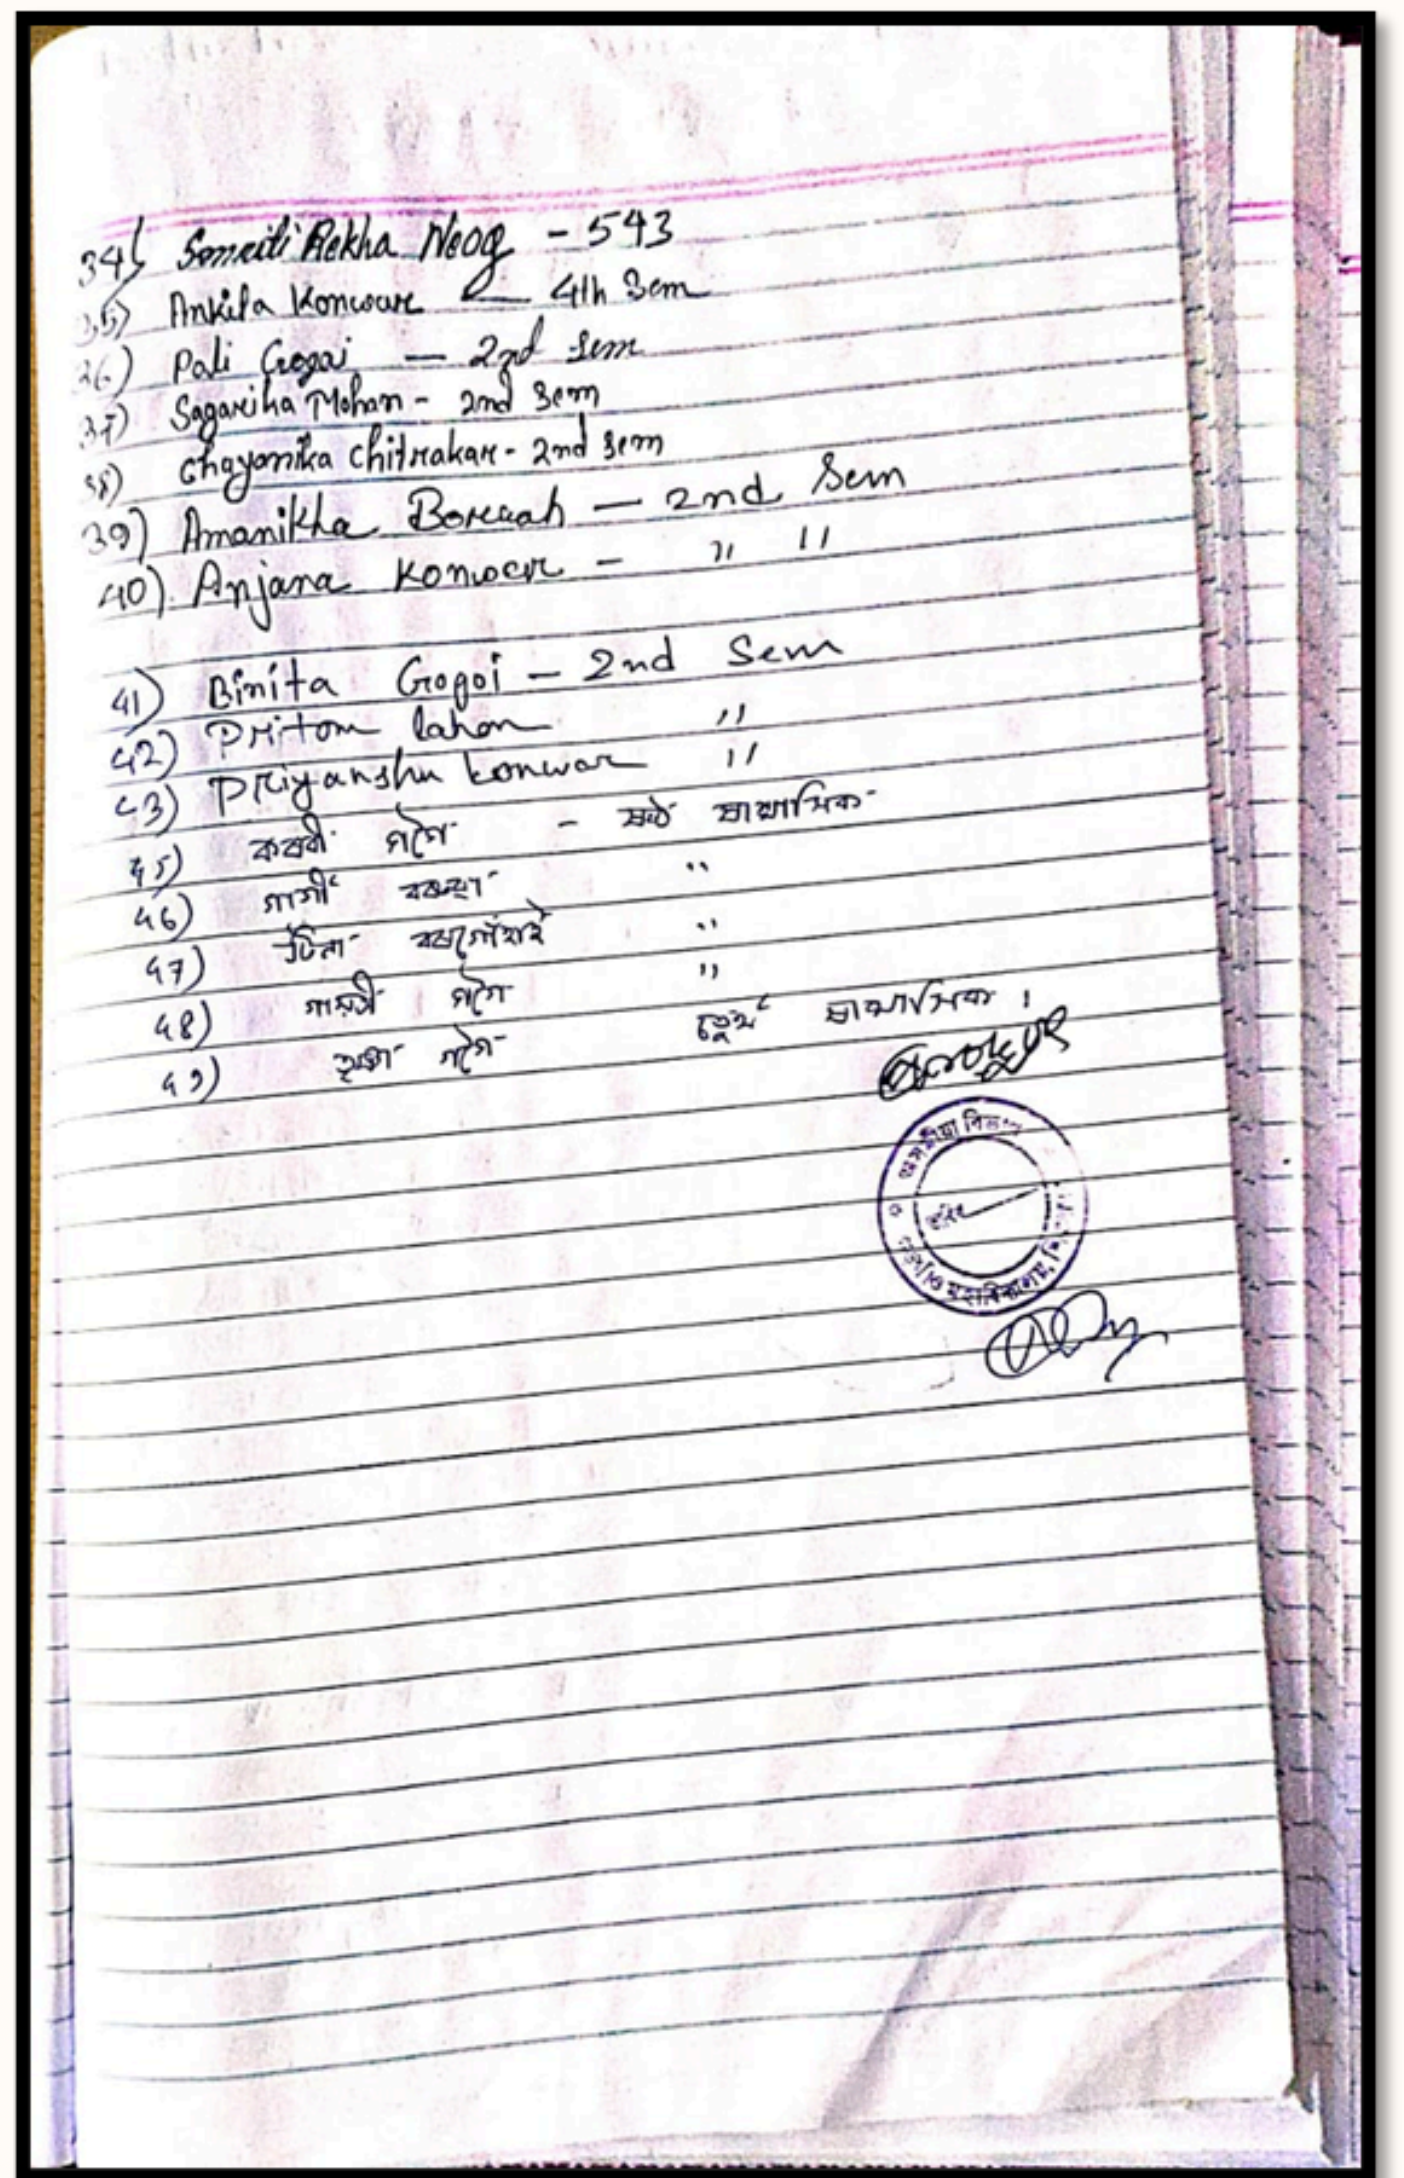

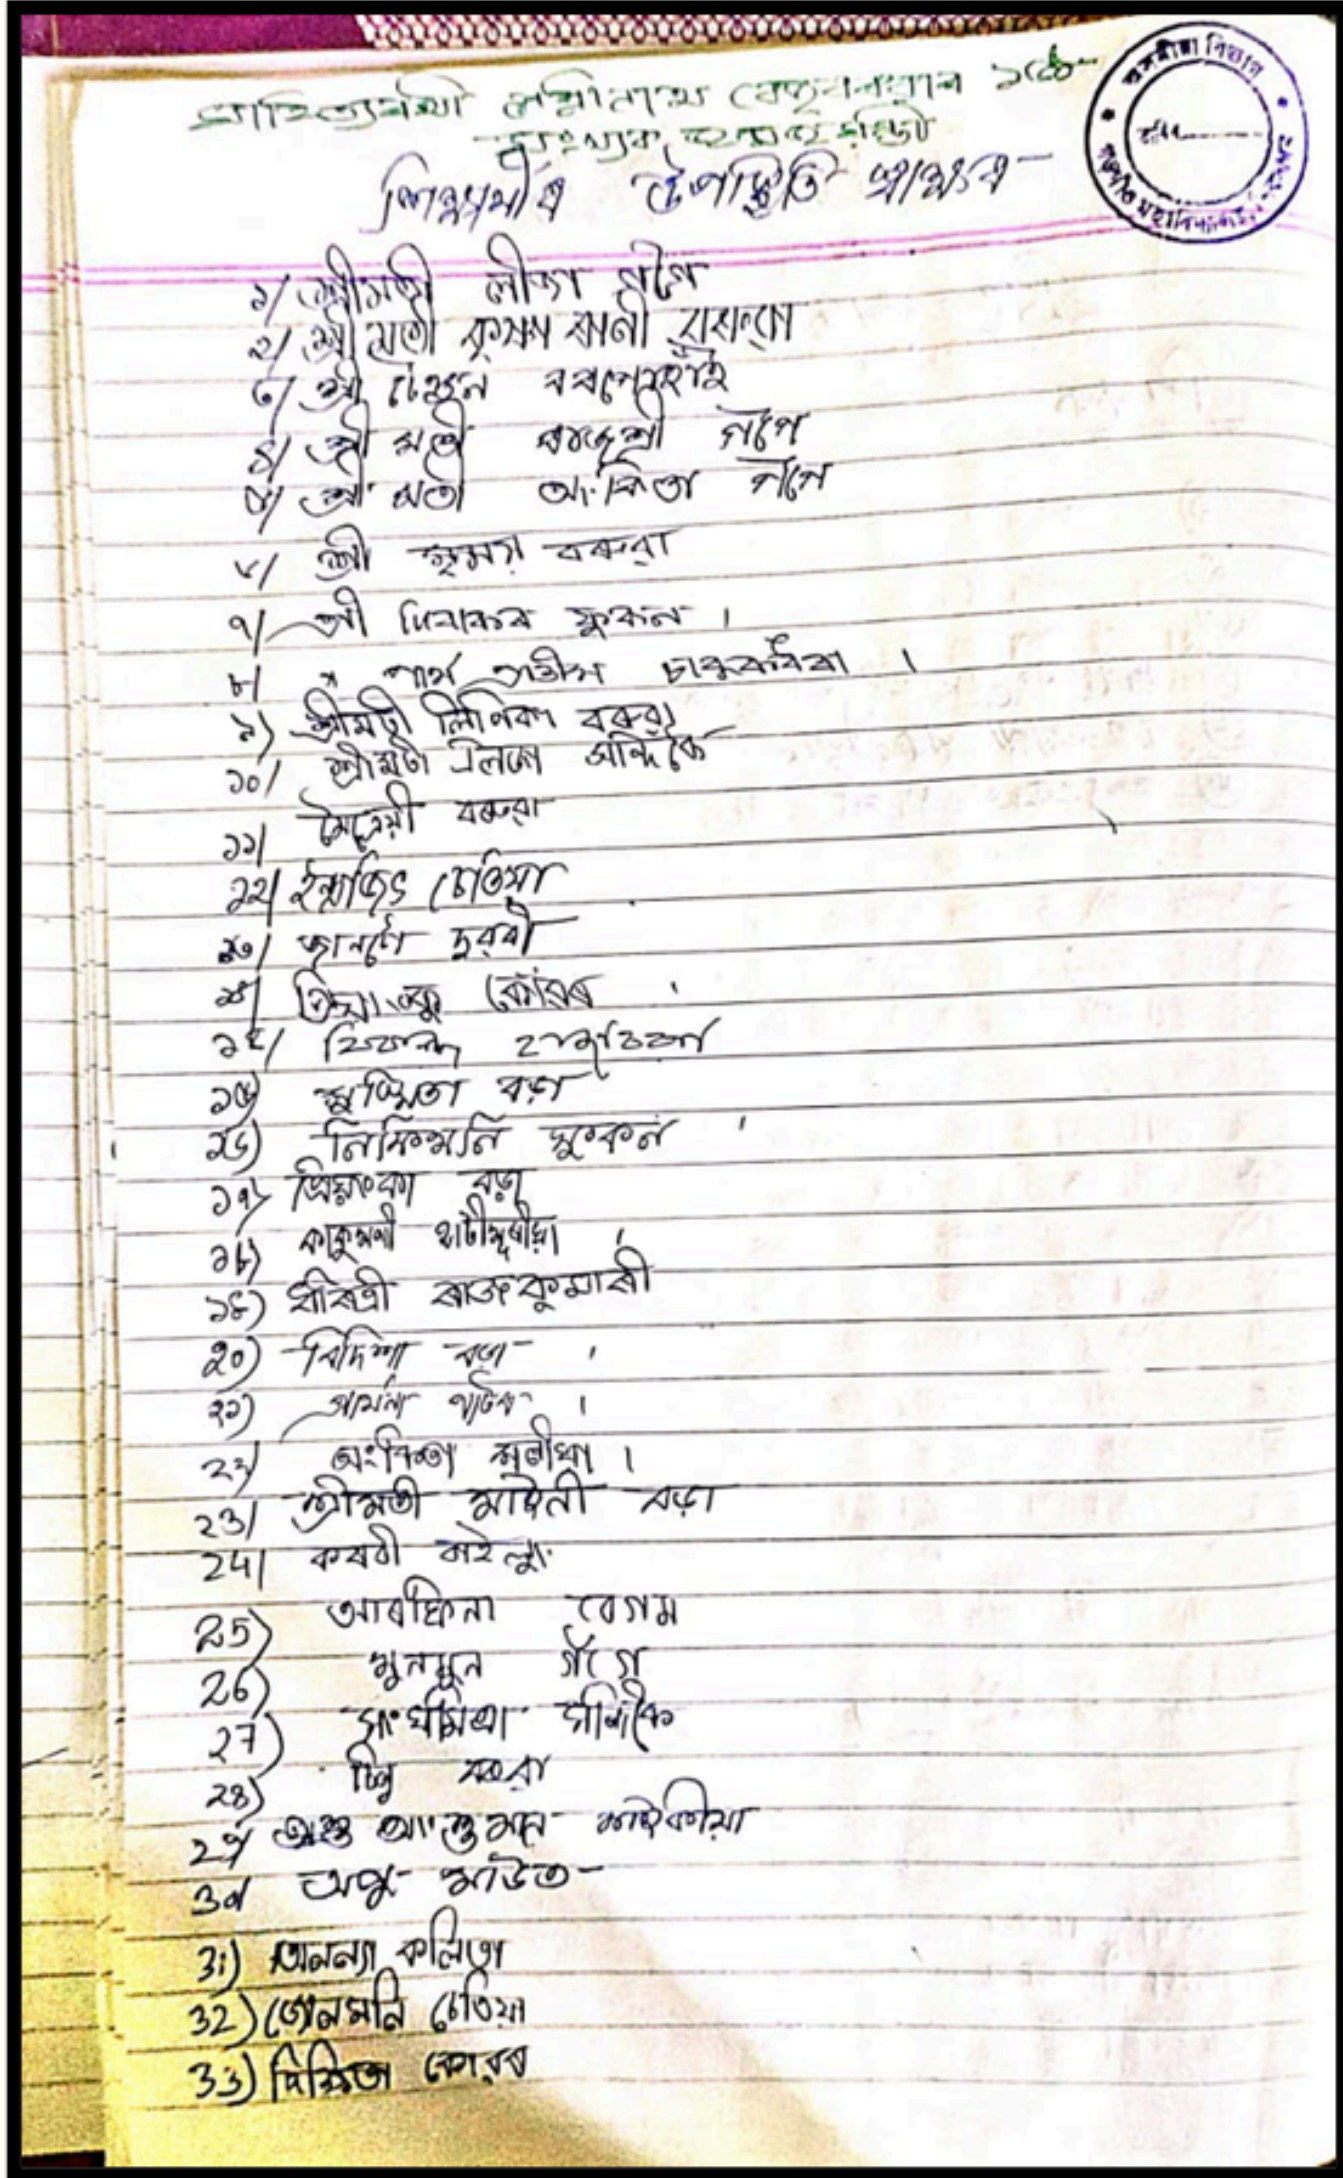

This day is celebrated to commemorate the contributions of the famous figure of Assamese literature Lakshminath Bezbaruah

About the program:

On the 158th birth anniversary of the eminent literary figure Lakshminath Bezbaruah, celebrated by the Assamese Department, the profound influence of this luminary on modern Assamese literature and his role as a national hero in shaping the intellectual consciousness of the Assamese nation were commemorated. Lakshminath Bezbaruah, who marked his literary debut through Jonaki, stands not only as a stalwart in modern Assamese literature but as a beacon inspiring the cultural identity of the Assamese people. The commemorative event featured an enlightening lecture, underscoring the enduring legacy of Laxminath Bezbarua's literary contributions. The gathering reflected on his invaluable impact, recognizing him not just as a literary icon but as a figure central to the cultural fabric of the region. Adding another layer of appreciation for literature, the lecture on Favorite Books brought forth noteworthy recognition for Karabi Gogoi, Barsha Barbarua, Ankita Gogoi, Jeet Arandhara, and Kankana Saikia, who were acknowledged as winners in this intellectual celebration. Their insightful reflections on their favorite books contributed to the vibrant literary atmosphere of the occasion, underscoring the enduring significance of literature in shaping intellectual discourse and fostering a love for reading within the community.
