FIELD VISIT TO LOCAL FISH FARM

Organized by
DEPARTMENT OF ZOOLOGY
GARGAON COLLEGE
SIMALUGURI

Name of the Program: Visit to a local fish farm.

Date: 12.04.2023

Visited by: B. Sc. 6th semester students and teacher in-charge

Organized by: Department of Zoology, Gargaon College

Nature of Activity: Extension and outreach

Objective of the program

- To understand the fish farm's production methods: To learn about the techniques and technologies employed for fish farming.
- To assess sustainability practices: Evaluate the farm's efforts to minimize environmental impact.
- To explore the potential for expansion: Analyze the feasibility of scaling up fish production.
- To gather information on market integration: Understand how the farm connects with local and regional markets.

Brief Description of the programme

A field visit was conducted to a local fish farm by the students of B. Sc 6th Semester, Department of Zoology, Gargaon College, as part of their syllabus on 12th April, 2023. A total of 27 number of students along with the teacher in-charge Dr. Rina Handique, Pimily Langthasa, Dr. Anurag Protim Das and Manshi Kaushik went to the trip. The trip was carried out to the Dr. S.A. Haque Agricultural Farm, located in Nazira, Sivasagar. Dr. S.A. Haque Agricultural Hub is a prominent local fish farm established in 1986, the farm is known for its sustainable aquaculture practices and commitment to producing high-quality fish products. The farm primarily focuses on the production of Indian Major Carps and native cat fishes has gained recognition for its contributions to the local aquaculture industry. The visit enriched the students with the practices of fish culture such induced breeding, rearing of fishes, feed formulation etc.

Rationality of the program

Field visits to fish farms provide an opportunity for researchers, students, and professionals to learn about aquaculture practices firsthand. It allows individuals to gather practical knowledge about fish farming techniques, sustainability practices, and challenges faced by the industry. Sustainability is a critical concern in modern agriculture, including aquaculture. A visit can assess the farm's efforts to reduce its environmental impact. Understanding sustainability practices can help identify best practices that can be replicated or improved upon in other farming operations. Entrepreneurs, businesses and students may visit fish farms to assess the potential for investment, market demand, and market integration opportunities. It provides insights into the local and regional market dynamics, customer preferences, and potential partnerships for distribution and sales.
