VOCATIONAL COURSES IN HIGHER EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTION AND NEW EDUCATION POLICY: ISSUES, POLICY AND WAY FORWARD

INTERNAL QUALITY ASSURANCE CELL (IQAC)

IN COLLABORATION WITH DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMICS

GARGAON COLLEGE

8th MAY, 2021

Now a day's the issue of unemployment becomes pivotal agenda in the process of development for the Government. From different reports it has been cited that the scope of employment opportunities in the Government sector has reduced. Year after year the Higher Educational Institute of the country has produced enormous graduates in different streams and concurrently these institutions have failed to generate more placement as well as livelihood opportunities for the graduates. As a result of which the issue of educational unemployment has got pace. To counter this issue of educational unemployment Government of India has been undertaking different policy measures since independence. Recently, the New Education Policy has also shown interest in this issue of educational unemployment and prescribes some new additions like introduction of Vocational Courses within the proposed course structure. NAAC has also given interest in this vibrant issue of educational unemployment and encourages the Higher Educational Institute to open some vocational courses for the students to enhance their employability skills. Therefore, discussions on implementation of vocational Courses in the Higher Educational Institute, New Education Policy and Vocational Courses, its implication and effectiveness, social benefits of opening up of these courses, problems associated in opening of these courses, etc., become very essential. Organization of Seminars and workshop among the academicians, researchers, NGO activists, social activists etc., will definitely give some insights to the issue of New Education Policy and Vocational Courses.

SUB-THEMES:

- Vocational Courses in New Education Policy.
- Status of Government Schemes relating to Employability Skills.
- Role of Higher Educational Institute towards improving the Employability Skills of the Students.
- Importance and Problems of Vocational Courses in HEL.
- Add on Courses or Short term Courses and Society.
- Self Employment as a means of quality livelihood.

Rationality

The NEP 2020 paves the way towards less regulation and more autonomy for institutions through an effective self-regulatory framework. The NEP 2020 heralds the of vocational education in the country potentially explosive growth. Focus is laid for vocational exposure of the learners through school and higher education.

Dr. Sabyasachi Mahanta, Principal of Gargaon College in his welcome address highlighted on NEP, 2020 stating that as per the New Education policy, is to combine the traditional knowledge with modern thinking. The Seminar, he said that would look into the issues and policies related to the implementation of the integration of vocational education into mainstream education and also in higher educational institution.

Prof. Deb Kumar Chakraborty inaugurated the Seminar. In his inaugural speech, Prof. Chakraborty said that we are passing through a very difficult phase in the global pandemic situation which has not only affected the economic growth but also the educational fields. He highlighted on the importance of vocational courses and skill formation.

Prof. Hiranya Nath was invited to deliver the keynote address of the seminar. Prof. Nath focused on the economic context in the educational policy. He talked about vocational education and the larger context of economic changes. He also discussed about the challenges and opportunities for introducing vocational courses in higher education institution. NEP re imagines by giving importance on focus areas based on skill gap analysis and mapping local opportunities. Speaking about the challenges and opportunities he pointed out the possible challenges as society's perception, mismatch, and shortage of qualified teachers/trainers keeping up with the rapid changes in the economy. While referring to the opportunity, he mentioned about the health and human services, health care and personal care, increased interactions with industries, early adopter advantage.

Dr. Anup Kumar Das from Rajib Gandhi University, Arunachal University presented the lead paper of the Seminar. The topic of his presentation was Skill Development in India: Its Importance, Extent and Impact on Employment. He started his deliberation stating that human capital plays a crucial role. Human capital, he said often used by economist for education, health and other human capacities that can raise productivity. In the course of his deliberation, Dr. Das also spoke about the skill development in India and job-oriented education provided through vocational training and other higher education institutes. In his closing remark, he pointed to the factors affecting the participation in skill development trainings in the study area he conducted. He concluded his speech by saying that Skill development is vital for economic development especially in a country like India.

The first technical Session was chaired by Prof. Deb Kumar Chakraborty, Dibrugarh University. The Resource person of the first technical session was Dr. Sumin Prakash, Assistant Professor, Rajib Gandhi University. Dr. Prakash said that atleast one student should be exposed to vocational education. He further pointed that they should be exposed to real skilled based courses. He talked about the various courses that are categorized under vocational courses. He also mentioned about the vocational courses offered by Govt. of India. About collaboration, he said that minimum ten days workshops can be organized in collaboration with local vocational experts.

Several papers were presented in the technical session. In the valedictory function, the invited guests and resource person shared their views and opinions about the Seminar and their experience. Dr. Sabyasachi Mahanta thanked all the participants and the Resource persons for their participation and making the seminar fruitful. The Two-day seminar ended with vote of thanks offered by Mr. Yuvaraj Gogoi, Assistant Professor of the Department of Political Science, Gargaon College.

REPORT OF THE WEBINAR

Date: 10th July, 2020

Resource Person: Dr. Sandipan Sharma, M D

Organized by: IQAC, Gargaon College

Rationality

Suicide is closely linked with mental health. Causes of suicidal tendencies among youth is increasing day by day. Suicidal thoughts are common among teens and young adults and the numbers of such cases are really frightening. The present situation is not encouraging at all. Mental crisis, uncertainty of future, economic crisis are some of the common reasons for which the youths suffer from stress and anxiety. Proper counselling and motivation can go a long way in building up the mental wellbeing of the youths to face the challenge of time.

A National webinar was organized on the topic Youth, Mental Health and Suicide on 10th July 2020. The Resource person invited on the occasion was Dr. Sandipan Sharma. MD. Dr. Sabyasachi Mahanta an eminent academic and Principal of Gargaon College in his inaugural address spoke about the stress and anxiety by the youths in the global pandemic situation. He said that youth is an important phase of the formative period and it has a major impact on future. It is the formative period that care has to be taken in building various factors like psychological, mental, physical wellbeing. In the process of climbing the ladder of success some become unsuccessful and they suffer from anxiety and stress. When they fear to tackle their problem, they commit suicide. Suicide, Dr. Mahanta said has been increasing day by day. The present situation is not encouraging at all, he added. He urged the students to become Physically active and to build up the mental well-being to face the challenge of the present situation.

Dr. Sandipan Sharma started his deliberation by referring to WHO and said that health is a complete state of complete physical, mental and social wellbeing. He focused on why mental health is important for all. Mr. Sharma said that suicidal thought and tendencies mostly occurs from depression and frustration. Such tendencies should be consulted from Psychiatrist and clinical psychologist. Stable mentality and mind capacity can keep the mental well being of a person. He also suggested some measures for overcoming such suicidal tendencies and upbuilding mental wellbeing. He said that yoga and meditation can help in bringing mental stability. He further pointed that proper counseling and positive mind approach can helps in overcoming this serious menace.

Dr. Surajit Saikia, IQAC Coordinator and Assistant Professor of Economics Department offered the vote of thanks to all concerned.

In the inaugural speech, Dr. Sabysachi Mahanta welcomed all the participants and appreciated the initiative of the organizers for organizing the Interaction Programme which he said that it will benefit the participants in exchanging ideas and knowledge about technologies with the resource person. Speaking about Dr. Uddhab Bharali, Dr. Mahanta said that he has been working continuously for the weaker section. He praised Dr. Bharali as the Machine man whose invention has brought tremendous success with the invention of more than 100 machines. HE added that Dr. Bharali is the pride of Assam, of the nation and of the Assamese community

Speaking about the NEP, 2020, Dr. Uddhav Bharali said that the new education system has brought about a revolutionary change in the academic field. He also mentioned about the uncertainty of seeking jobs. In that situation, Dr. Bharali commented that an alternative approach can help the students in employability. Innovation, he said cannot be built or created. The scientific thought has to be ingrained in mind. He stressed on the importance of practical knowledge. The mindset has to be changed. Its time to upgrade our mindset, he said. Dr. Bharli also talked about the scientific use and application of machines.

The programme ended with an interaction of the students where they put several queries to the Resource person. Dr. Surajit Saikia, IQAC Cordinator moderated the programme. The vote of thanks was offered by Dr. Pankaj Nath, Librarian, Gargaon College.

Cinema is one of the most powerful art forms. Apart from its entertainment value, cinema has become a powerful vehicle for culture, education including source of information. Movies are evidently very impactful in today's world. Cinema is a mirror of society. More than this, cinema had become an integral part of the nation's cultural identity.

The virtual Interaction programme on Cinema, Society, Art and Culture was organized by Gargaon College in collaboration with Annuperana. The programme was inaugurated by Dr. Harish Chandra Mahanta, Register, Dibrugarh University. The noted columnist and Principal of Gargaon College, Dr. Sabyasachi Mahanta while addressing to the speakers and the participants thrown light on the glorious journey of the Institution and its achievements in different fields. He said that the virtual interaction with the resource person would definitely enhance the student's knowledge in the field of cinema, art and culture and help them in infusing interest in the areas.

Dr. Harish Chandra Mahanta, in his inaugural speech had thrown light on the film industry and its history and growth. In his deliberation, he mentioned about the noted film makers and their efforts in contributing to the development of the film industry.

Noted film Director, Jahnua Barua said that cinema is the most powerful form in the present world. He added that initially though the purpose of cinema was entertainment and time pass, with changing times and evolving public interests, films and cinemas are transforming into a source of information including entertainment too. If people do not look at it in depth, it is of no meaning. He said that the younger generation should relate to it and should have an indepth knowledge as an art form. Talking about Assamese cinema, the speaker said that lot of good talents are coming up in the Assamese film industry and good films are being made. Cinema deserves a lot of attention. Film has a uniquely powerful ubiquity within human culture. A good movie , he said, can entertain, educate and inspire the viewers in many ways, He urged the students to enjoy films with a positive approach.

The entire programme was coordinated by Dr. Surajit Saikia, IQAC Coordinator and Assistant Professor in the Department of Economics, Gargaon College.

Organized by Gargaon College in association with IQAC, Gargaon College

Rationality

Education is one of the significant factors instrumental to the development of a country. The global pandemic situation has not only affected the economic growth rather it has affected the educational sector too. In this background, given the present scenario of Indian higher education, there need a paradigm shift in the higher education system. The emerging Indian society need to make the system of higher education innovative and futuristic to face the changing demands of the modern Indian society.

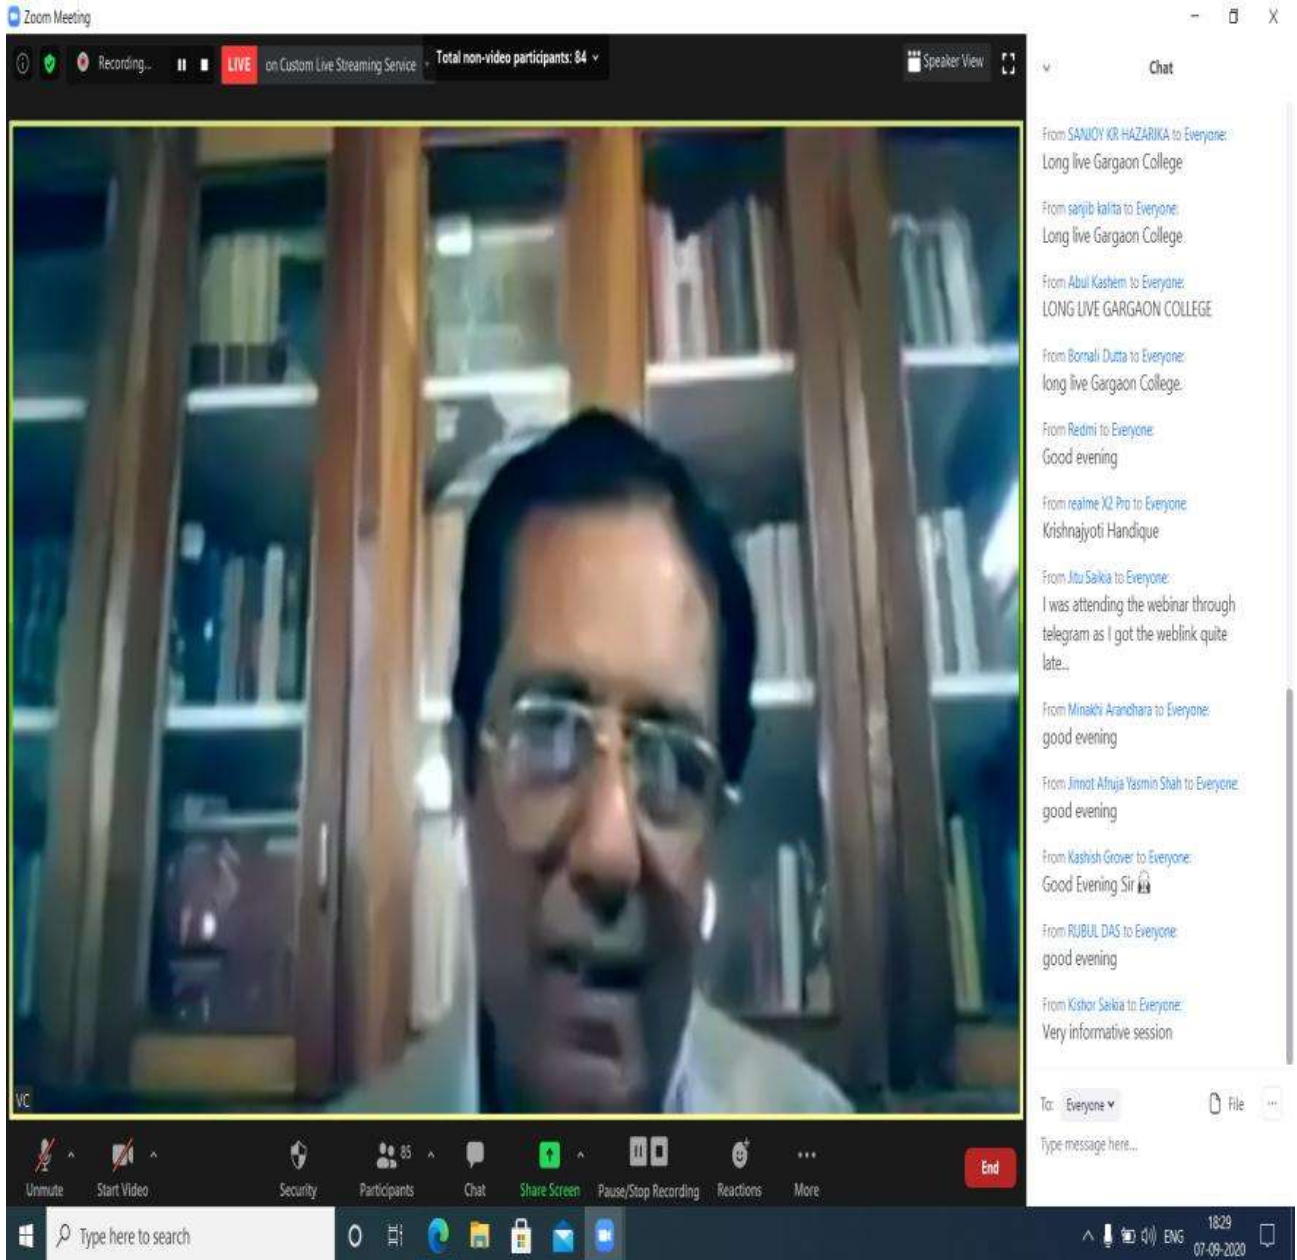

Inaugurating the National webinar on Future Education: Prospects and Challenges, Dr. Sabyasachi Mahanta, Principal of Gargaon College thrown light on the glorious history and achievement of the college since its inception. Dr. Mahanta also mentioned that as part of the Diamond Jubilee Celebration, the webinar has been organized on the eve of Foundation Day of the college. While talking about the prospects and challenges of education, Dr. Mahanta said that the implementation of the New Education Policy would definitely bring about a sea change in higher education system. He added that NEP will implement a uniform education policy in educational field.

Throwing much light on the New Education Policy, The Speaker, Dr. Amarjyoti Chodhury said that education has four directions. Knowledge, To work, To live with society and to expand the possibilities of the students. NEP, he said, also redefined the role of the teachers. Dr. Choudhury commented that a society improve and develop through knowledge. If educational system fails to provide development to the society, it has no value at all. He stressed much on the research area. The NEP would transfer the education sector in the country and he opined that such a change will bridge the gap and equalize the educational system with the developed countries of the world.

The webinar was moderated by Dr, Surajit Saikia, IQAC Coordinator and Assistant Professor of the Department of Economics, Gargaon College. The Vote of thanks was offered by Dr. Pankaj Kumar Nath, Librarian, Gargaon College.

Rationality

Alcohol is one of the most widely used drug substances in the world. Alcohol is a toxic and psychoactive substance with dependence producing properties. Excessive alcohol use can lead to increased risk of health problems such as injuries, violence, liver diseases and cancer. The talk on Chemistry of Alcohol: Weighing Risks and Benefits was organized to aware the risk factors of excessive consumption of alcohol and health consequences.

The Department of Chemistry, Gargaon College, organized a Popular Talk on Chemistry of Alcohol: Weighing Risks and Benefits on the 10th of June, 2021. Dr. Ramesh Chandra Deka of Tezpur University was invited as a Resource person to deliver a talk on the topic. Dr. Sabyasachi Mahanta, noted columnist and Principal of Gargaon College inaugurated the Popular talk. In his inaugural speech, Dr. Mahanta said that organizing such a talk on the topic would be beneficial to both the participants and research scholars. He appreciated the initiative of the faculty members of the department for organizing a talk on such a relevant issue.

Dr. Ramesh Chandra Deka, discussed on Alcohol Metabolism. He spoke about genetic factor and environmental factors of Alcohol (Ethanol) Metabolism. Speaking about the different enzymes which the body uses to metabolize alcohol, he pointed to four enzymes such as Alcohol dehydrogenase (ADH), Cytochrome P450 (CYP2E1), Catalase and Aldehyde dehydrogenase (ALDH). Some alcohol metabolism also occurs in other tissues, including the pancreas and the brain he said. Talking about the consequences of health, Dr. Deka said that there may be Fetal Alcohol Spectrum Disorder if the alcohol consumption is greater. The consequences of alcohol metabolism include oxygen deficits (i.e., hypoxia) in the liver: interaction between alcohol metabolism byproducts and other cell components, resulting in the formation of harmful compounds (i.e., adducts), formation of highly reactive oxygen-

Associate Professor
Department of Political Science

Rationality

The discourse of nationalism in India has been mostly forwarded from state centric perspective. The themes of North East and Gender are found missing from such narratives. The webinar on Nationalism and Gender in the context of India's North East was organized to explore the issues related to Gender in the North East Perspective.

The welcome address of the National webinar was delivered by Dr. Ramananda Das, Head and Associate Professor of the Department of Political Science, Gargaon College. Nation is a state of construction, said the Resource person, Dr. Dolly Phukan while defining Nation. Nationalist discourses tend to create a nation. In the course of her deliberation, she spoke about the examples of Gendering the Nation. She said that imaginary is visible in much ethnography and in the political sub-nationalist slogans. The northeastern region is a heterogeneous region accommodating diverse cultures, language, and ethnicity and so on. Dr. Phukan said that it is difficult to address the gender dimensions keeping in view the vast diversities which also make the gender issues and implementations varied in nature. The gendered discourses and nationalism and sub-nationalism has put women's question in the margins. Yet the innumerable narratives of women and their contribution in the nation-building project cannot be denied. Literatures on women's quest for their identities, quest for peace and protection of their community is silent due to the masculinity historiographies. Dr. Phukan said that there is a need to obliterate this stillness and actions should be taken to record and preserve these narratives of women which can be an alternative or counter to the patriarchal narratives. The National Webinar was coordinated by Dr. Pobon Kumar Gogoi, Associate Professor and the vote of thanks was offered by Mr. Yuvaraj Gogoi, Assistant Professor of the Department of Political Science, Gargaon College.
